Medical Response to H1N1 & Mass Vaccination Campaign

Tuesday, August 25, 2009, 6:00 pm

Urban Resource Center, Florida State College at Jacksonville (FSCJ)
601 W. State Street, Room 103, Jacksonville, FL 32202
(Located between Broad and State Streets)

It is anticipated that the 2009 regular seasonal flu will be compounded by the simultaneous spread of the H1N1 (Swine) Influenza Virus. In late June and early July, over 90% of the specimens tested for influenza at the Bureau of Laboratories have been positive for H1N1. At this point in time it can be assumed that a person with influenza-like illness has the H1N1 strain, without conducting laboratory testing. This program will focus on medical response to H1N1 and coordination of a mass vaccination campaign to ensure preparedness in Duval County.

 Yes, I/we will attend the August 25 H1N1 Program.
